INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY AND WATER COMMISSION UNITED STATES AND MEXICO

April 10, 2024

A notice to the general public, owners, lessees, and users of lands along the Rio Grande, in the reach from Penitas to the Gulf and in the interior floodways in Hidalgo, Cameron, and Willacy Counties, Texas

The general public, owners, lessees, and users of lands on the United States bank of the Rio Grande, below Falcon Dam or lands within the Banker Floodway, Main Floodway, Arroyo Colorado, and North Floodway, are hereby notified that lands along the bank of the river (floodplain), depending upon their elevation, are subject to periodic flooding from local tributary inflows and by releases from Falcon Dam. This is a public notice to advise and inform you that human life, property, livestock, and other activities, existing or proposed, may be subject to flood damage, and are maintained or undertaken at your own risk.

The International Boundary and Water Commission (IBWC) maintains the Lower Rio Grande Flood Control Project to provide flood protection to urban, suburban, and highly developed irrigated lands in the Rio Grande delta. The IBWC will operate Falcon Dam to regulate and convey normal/flood flows. Please be advised that during flood flow releases from Falcon Dam and/or localized heavy rainfall, the Rio Grande or its floodways will unavoidably overflow and may adversely impact interests along the banks. Please refer to your local National Weather Service office for flood information during these events.

To protect life and property and to avoid potential obstruction or deflection of flows within the Rio Grande floodplain, the general public, owners, lessees, and users of land along the Rio Grande, and its floodways are advised for their own safety and for security of their properties to contact their county officials and the United States Section, IBWC, 325 Golf Course Road, Mercedes, TX 78570, telephone number (956) 513-0284, before making any use or improvements of the lands along the river.

Sincerely,

Dr. Maria-Elena Giner, P.E.
Commissioner
